

Six stylish new hotels in four great cities

Spectacular openings, from Melbourne to Rome via Paris's perennially chic Sixth Arrondissement

Upstairs, Bruno Borrione, known for Maison Pic in Valence and a handful of glittering restaurants including Fouquet's, has collaborated with art dealer Amélie du Chalard, who commissioned more than 50 original works from 11 French artists. With the exception of two chairs, by Verner Panton and Poltrona Frau respectively, every piece of furniture was custom-designed for the hotel. The effect is of a modern, slightly masculine-leaning chic, particularly in the extremely appealing seventh-floor penthouses – dream Parisian living, under the eaves. hoteldesgrandsvoyageurs.com, from €363; villadespres.com, from €740
